

The time is late summer 1989. The action takes place in the modern cottage of a wealthy, elderly romantic fiction novelist suffering from a terminal illness.

The remainder of her life becomes complicated by the arrival of her only living relative, her nephew; a social deviant who is seeking a large sum of money which his aunt is currently holding in trust for him, and anything else he can get his hands on.

The serenity of the English Wolds is shattered when a very close friend of the aunt is murdered. Suspicions abound and accusations fly as the personal secrets and fears of the characters are dragged to the fore as each pursues their chosen version of the truth, leading to the extraordinary dénouement.

In addition to our usual company stalwarts, we are particularly pleased to welcome three new participants to our cast, without whom this production would not have been possible.

We hope you enjoy it.
